The importance of healthy connective tissue for optimal health

The skin is the largest organ in the body, composed of connective tissue (or extracellular matrix), and it makes up a large proportion of the total body mass. It connects the vessels, nerves and lymphatic system with the organ cells (parenchyma), thus providing the infrastructure and framework for the organ cells. There are three key biomolecules in connective tissue: structural proteins (collagen and elastin), specialised proteins (fibrillin, fibronectin, and laminin), and proteoglycans.

Due to its complex structure, the connective tissue is highly specialised with a diverse role, providing mechanical support, movement, tissue fluid transport, cell migration, wound healing and controlling metabolic processes.

The Extracellular Matrix drives the intracellular environment. Dysfunction of the matrix leads to impaired waste removal processes, blockage, muscular dystrophy, fibrosis, and cancer, to name a few. For example, fibrosis manifests as a result of impaired connective tissue behaviour; however, healing takes place by manipulating mesenchymal cells' activity.

A compromised matrix structure is not able to regenerate. Therefore, understanding and modulating the matrix related mechanisms can lead to therapeutic options for the patients.

The human body is a self-regulatory entity. It can maintain internal stability while adjusting to changing external conditions. Homeostasis is dynamic and reflects complex interactions of multiple feedback systems than can be modified by control centres. Human cells use bioelectricity to communicate and making decision on what they want to become. This means biophysical methods like System Information Therapy have a significant role in organs' health.

How can we help?

Wegamed has designed two treatment devices that look the same. They can be used as two separate machines or as one combo. Med Matrix offers a non-specific regeneration and detoxification treatment, while Med Select can treat specific areas and health concerns. Both devices may be used independently; however, we recommend using them with diagnostic devices to ensure the practitioner provides the best therapy.

Both devices have:

1. Built-in Support Programs utilising Vega Duplex Memory (VDS) technology.
2. Organ-Specific Frequencies: each organ responds to different frequencies, and using the correct frequency improves the specific organ's health.
3. Possibility of delivering personalised treatments.

Individual treatment with the devices takes around 15-20 minutes. The number of treatments required is, on average, 4-8 depending on the patient and the disease.

How does Med Matrix work?

Med Matrix device was developed to stimulate the release of environmental and metabolic waste by-products, toxins, and inflammatory foci from the connective tissue. The regeneration treatment frees the body from chronic inflammation and strengthens the function and activity of the immune and connective tissue cells involved. It facilitates general drainage and detoxification.

Med Matrix combines three holistic matrix treatment techniques into one coordinated process. These three components work together and reinforce the effect of the others by applying a rolling suction electrode to the back of the patient.

1. System information therapy (SIT): the suction electrode transmits the biological information of toxins and waste products released from the matrix into the device. Combined with cell and metabolism-supporting frequency signals and supported by dynamic magnetic fields, the signals are fed back to the patient as therapeutic signals. As a result, the self-healing powers are activated, and the pressure is removed from the immune system. The dynamic magnetic fields support the system information transfer while clearing the tissue physically and generating new energy.
2. Electro-stimulation: re-polarises the cell membrane and removes the fixed electrons and acidic waste.
3. Vacuum suction (Petechial suction massage): it is the modern way of cupping. It draws the active waste and toxin materials from under the skin to the surface while stimulating the circulation systems to remove them. At the same time, the electrodes cover the pathological frequency patterns of the toxins and are used for system information therapy.

Benefits of Med Matrix

- Regeneration of all organs via reflex zone using segmental classification.
- Mobilisation of toxins and waste by-products using suction effect.
- Stimulation of vascular and lymphatic systems to aid detoxification and skin health.
- Relaxation of the muscular system.
- Repolarisation of pathological tissues.
- Strengthens and supports immune function.
- Reduction of pain and inflammation all over the body.
- Separate face electrode for facial wellness rejuvenation.
- User-friendly touch screen menu.

How does Med Select work?

Med Select activates the body's own self-healing powers via vibrational therapy. It uses system information therapy (SIT). SIT is able to restore the self-regulation and self-regeneration capabilities both at the local and at the system level, operating with endogenous and external low frequency electromagnetic signals. The treatment is specific and applied to the organism's sectors, anatomy, physiology, and metabolic states. Personalised and targeted healing is the cornerstone of Med Select.

It facilitates bipolar (memorising and transmitting) recording and therapy by two electrodes using magnetic fields. Med Select has an archive of homoeopathic vibrations and a VDS library of noxa and allergens, which was proven in the Test Expert Plus.

The electrodes are usually put on the neck or ears. In addition, there are two magnetic tools that can be applied directly to the stressed areas. The client can also lay down on a mattress that is connected to the machine, which delivers the therapy to the entire body. The Select comes with about 50 protocols that cover almost any possible health issue. The device is equipped with cups where you can put a remedy which is delivered to the body in addition to the healing frequencies.

Benefits of Med Select

- Numerous saved programs with over 2500 ampoules to provide an easy and quick treatment option.
- Personalised treatment plan which facilitates repeat patient treatments.
- Individual frequency setting for system information therapy for even better-personalised treatment.
- It offers localised treatment options which facilitate specificity.
- The external cup function takes the treatment options to the next level.
- Effective, efficient, and safe methods in the management of localised and systemic pain.
- Reduces and manages allostatic load.
- Restores self-regulation, self-regeneration, and self-recovery capabilities of the body.
- Harmonises psychological stress using the relaxation therapy program.

Who can use the devices?

Anyone can operate the devices; however, a qualified healthcare practitioner must choose the appropriate treatment program for the patient.

We recommend using the MED MATRIX by:

- Aesthetic centres and dermatologists to treat skin conditions (acne) and scarring. Very effective for skin rejuvenation and tightening.
- Wellness centres and spas to provide full regeneration treatments by reducing toxin overload and improving detoxification capacity and immune function for optimal health.
- Massage therapists and physiotherapists to reduce pain, stiffness, lymphatic congestion and improve lymph and blood flow to stimulate circulation. It is also an excellent tool for treating cellulite.
- Sports/ Football clubs and personal trainers to treat muscular pain and inflammation and loosen up muscle groups and tissue indurations
- Nutritionists and CAMP practitioners to stimulate detoxification capacity, improve liver function and metabolic regulation, reduce food sensitivities and allergies, improve enzyme and bile acid function, and manage hormonal imbalance.
- Functional medicine doctors to regenerate the entire body with multiple organ disorders. Support immune modulation and cellular function or treat specific conditions.

We recommend using the MED SELECT by:

- General Practitioners (GPs) to treat damaged organs by stimulating self-regulatory processes for a broad range of illnesses without drug interventions. Surgeries and referrals may not be necessary.
- Sports/ Football clubs and personal trainers to treat specific muscular pain and localised inflammation by focusing on the targeted area.
- Nutritionists and CAMP practitioners. Personalised approach is key for better health outcomes. Med Select addresses everything that Med Matrix but adding specificity to it. Using protocol treatment method that are personalised to the patient anatomy, physiology, and pathological state.
- Functional medicine doctors to stimulate the self-healing power of the body by focusing on specific organs, improving structural integrity for optimal function. Naturopathic supplementations may not be necessary which is great for patient with complex gut issues where absorption is compromised.

Are you looking to provide a truly holistic service to your patients?

Look no further! The combined use of the diagnostic and therapeutic devices offers a truly holistic wellness experience to your patients. We invite you to check out the Check Medical and the Test Expert Plus devices.
